Van Mahotsav (Hindi for Forest Festival) is an annual one week tree planting festival in India which is celebrated in the first week of July. It was started in the year 1950 by Kanaiyalal Maneklal Munshi by planting a tree at Rajghat, Delhi. The students of middle wing celebrated Van Mahotsav with full enthusiasm. They planted little saplings at their homes and watered the plants nearby their area. It was started to create awareness in the mind of the people for the conservation of forests and planting of new trees. Van Mahotsav is celebrated as a festival of life. The name Van Mahotsav means 'the festival of trees'.
